August Heat. by William Fryer Harvey (1910) PHENISTONE ROAD, CLAPHAM, August 20th, 19—. I HAVE HAD what I believe to be the most remarkable day in my life, and while the events are still fresh in my mind, I wish to put them down on paper as clearly as possible. Let me say at the outset that my name is James Clarence Withencroft.

It's August in Sicily and the heat is on Inspector Salvo Montalbano in more ways than one. Grappling with the brutal murder of a young girl, a turbulent love life, and a fruitless search for the last electric fan in town, the indomitable Montalbano approaches every situation with his customary dry wit and cynicism. Camilleri underpins the story with caustic sideswipes at the political and criminal elements of Sicilian society, which always make his books ...
