They actually help prevent (emphasis on the word prevent) it by repairing DNA breaks that can lead to cancer. This is why we refer to them as tumor suppressor genes (emphasis on the words tumor suppressor genes). Sometimes, changes in the BRCA genes occur that prevent them from functioning properly.

Things do happen, girls do like older guys, girls do make the first move on an older guy, even if they are a virgin when they do show an interest. My wife was a virgin when we met and I have been her only lover all her life, It has been 22 years we have been together, married for 20 of them! So dont tell me it does not happen, I am living proof.
