The National Electrical Code (NEC), or NFPA 70, is a regionally adoptable standard for the safe installation of electrical wiring and equipment in the United States. It is part of the National Fire Code series published by the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA), a private trade association. Despite the use of the term "national", it is not a federal law.

Hi, I'm Jacob Foster, I once worked for a large, multi-national firm and saw first-hand how the company's hefty fees and charges often upset clients. I felt business owners in Australia needed a complete, one-stop fire protection and electrical service that was both professional and affordable so in 2008 FCF Fire & Electrical emerged.
